

REMARKS

The examiner stated in the Advisory Action that Sawada teaches an update notification that includes accumulated differences. The examiner refers to column 26, lines 43-60, which simply states that a cell ID is updated from "4" to "5". The change of cell ID does not constitute "accumulated differences".

The claimed invention includes an accumulation step of accumulating multiple differences of the data corresponding to the multiple updates. The accumulated multiple differences are then displayed in the order of the updates as notification content. Accordingly, data related to multiple updates that have not been previously displayed are displayed. Sawada fails to disclose or suggest accumulating multiple differences corresponding to multiple updates, and then displaying those differences in the order of the updates.
